

Asset Allocation

Mr.B, asset allocation refers to implementing the action plan across various asset classes with respect to taxation, risk profile, time period, overall financial condition and requirements. It is necessary to consider asset classes which do not move in the same direction in order to bring stability to the portfolio (different asset classes perform differently in various market and economic conditions). This remains an important tool for creating wealth and achieving goals in the long term.

Ok Mr.A, this indeed looks to be an important concept.
